Notes

- If Hildryn wields her signature Larkspur/ Larkspur Prime, the weapon gains 300 more Ammo Maximum in Atmospheric mode, for a total of 700.
- Hildryn has the second highest base shields out of all Warframes (1,380 unranked and 1,880 at rank 30), behind Hildryn Prime.
  - When taking overshields into consideration, Hildryn is the Warframe with the third highest base total shield value, behind Harrow, Hildryn Prime, and Harrow Prime.
- Hildryn, along with Lavos, boasts the lowest base energy out of all Warframes in the game, having none at all.

to its cost; after the last use of the ability the cost will begin to decline until it reaches the original value.

- The speed of reduction is the same for most or all Railjack abilities resulting in longer wait times for higher cost abilities while lower cost abilities are restored within a few seconds.

Tips

- As a Warframe with large Shield capacity, Hildryn gains a lot of benefits from Guardian and Arcane Enhancements affecting Shields, namely Arcane Aegis and Arcane Barrier.
- Hildryn is relatively more vulnerable against Magnetic status, especially in The Steel Path as a single hit while being under Magnetic proc can deplete all her shield and prevent her from immediately using Pillage until the shield is partially replenished.
  - Keep an eye out for Eximus Energy Leech/Parasitic, Thrax Centurion and Thrax Legatus as they can easily inflict Magnetic proc during an intense battle.
  - Arcane Nullifier can potentially increase her survivability.
- As with other Warframes with high shield values, Hildryn also benefits well from Adaptation, essentially increasing the amount of damage her shields can absorb.
- Hildryn can absorb a higher amount of damage while being airborne with Aegis Storm, by equipping Aerodynamic, Agility Drift and/or Aviator.
  - This can be further increased by the Boreal's set bonus, equipping Boreal's Anguish and Boreal's Hatred in Hildryn and Boreal's Contempt in a Polearm.
- Hildryn's lack of energy makes her an ideal Warframe to use in missions where energy regeneration would be severely hampered, such as in Nightmare Mode missions with the Energy Drain modifier, or Energy Reduction Modifiers in Sorties.
  - Conversely, Hildryn should not be brought on missions that severely affect shields, such as the No Shields Nightmare Mode modifier.

✕ t with no energy, Hildryn can abilities means that she does

- Conversely, due to her lack of energy, all energy interactions other than energy orbs provide no benefit for her, such as Trinity's Energy Vampire, Energy Siphon, Rage/Hunter Adrenaline, Quick Thinking/Gladiator Finesse, Zenurik, or Arcane Energize.
- Having a Sentinel/MOA \(Companion\) with Guardian can allow for Hildryn's shields to instantly recharge upon depletion, effectively resetting her Shield Wall passive.
  - Equipping Shield Charger is also useful for boosting shield regeneration and providing temporary additional shields and overshields.
  - Both Guardian and Shield Charger have a cooldown of 30 seconds.
- Hildryn has significantly reduced effectiveness against the Infested as they often lack armor or shields for her to Pillage and replenish her own shields.
  - This weakness can be circumvented with Balefire Surge or Blazing Pillage.
- Despite the caveats, Hildryn's passive ability allows for a dramatic increase in the frequency of Railjack ability use. Mods increasing max shields and the rate of shield regeneration further increase this advantage.

Trivia

- Hildryn was first revealed in Devstream 122 along with Wisp, sharing space in the same concept art.
- Hildr is an Old Norse word for "battle".
  - Hildr is also a valkyrie in Norse mythology, attested in the Prose Edda.
- Hildryn is the 39th Warframe to be released (excluding Primed and Umbra variants).
- Hildryn is the second Warframe whose blueprint can be acquired from a syndicate, Vox Solaris, using standing, the first being Baruuk.
  - Unlike Baruuk, Hildryn's component blueprints cannot be acquired from Vox Solaris. Instead, they are dropped from the Exploiter Orb.
  - She is the first Warframe whose component blueprints are dropped from a Landscape's boss.

main blueprint costs 5,000, Hildryn is the most expensive in terms of syndicate standing, worth 77,000 in total.

- Hildryn is the first Warframe that does not use energy for any abilities, later followed by Lavos.
  - Also, Hildryn is the third Warframe to use an alternate resource for her abilities, after Nidus and Baruuk and later Gauss. In Hildryn's case, she uses her shields.
- The Orokin script on her default helmet reads "shield maiden."
- Hildryn is the second Warframe with unique rolling animations, the first being Limbo. She instead deploys "wings" from her shoulders and launches herself forward a short distance.
- Hildryn is the first Warframe to have an Exalted Weapon as a first ability, immediately available from Unranked.
  - Other Warframes with Exalted Weapons have theirs as a fourth ability, available at rank 10 and onward.
- Hildryn is the first Warframe to have an Archgun, Larkspur, as a Signature Weapon.
  - The Larkspur is her only signature weapon, however she also possess an Exalted Weapon, the Balefire Charger.
- Hildryn is the second Warframe that can be airborne via a channeled ability, Aegis Storm, the first being Titania.

Bugs

- Hildryn can't use most of the normal interactions that drain energy from Warframes, such as the energy draining hall in Lua Spy missions and puzzles, due to having zero energy.
