You're natural. Now, I'm sure you want to go crazy building armaments all over, but you cannot do that. You need to use sockets. Go find the socket that appeals to you the most - your socket, the socket that was meant for you - and build something dangerous in it.

—Cavalero during Angels of the Zariman

Cavalero is the arms-dealer of The Holdfasts and former security personnel of the Zariman Ten Zero ship. He offers Incarnon weapon blueprints and unique Arcane Enhancements. He is located in the center of the Chrysalith.

Lore & History

General

As a security personnel, Cavalero was tasked with maintaining peace and order aboard the Zariman Ten Zero. Parvos Granum once tried to hire Cavalero as his enforcer with a big payout, but he turned down the offer. Parvos seems to have survived through the Zariman mission, the creation of Sentients, the beginning of the Old War, as well as the conception of Warframes.

The Void-Jump Accident

Prior to the Void Jump Accident, under Quinn's orders he violently rounded up those who protested against a long unsafe void jump and executed their leaders.

Cavalero was one of the few adults on the Zariman who didn't get affected and driven insane from Void exposure before their death during the Void Jump Accident. After he'd witnessed Hombask's demise by the other adults who went insane, he had exploded himself and the approaching attackers with a grenade.

Rebirth

As the Zariman reappeared through the Void, Cavalero and four others were revived selves, most of their memories have eroded away. As the player ranks up in the Holdfasts syndicate, they will slowly begin to remember who they were and the events that took place before and after the void jump.

Offerings

Cavalero offers blueprints for Incarnon Weapons and Ephemera, and Syndicate Sigils, as well as all possible Arcane Enhancements dropped from Void Angels, Thrax Centurions, and Thrax Legatus. He also provides services for evolving Incarnon weapons.
