Earn Vega Toroids from enemies located at the Spaceport in the Orb Vallis and from Mite Raknoids. They can also be found as pick-ups in caves located around the Orb Vallis.

—In-game Description

The Vega Toroid is a rare resource that can be acquired in caves, or as a rare drop from Mite Raknoids and any enemies near the Spaceport in Orb Vallis. This resource acts as either a normal pickup when dropped by enemies, or as an interactive object if found in caves.

Redeeming Vega Toroid will award 1,000 with Vox Solaris. One is also used as a sacrifice for Rank 1 - Operative and Rank 2 - Agent. It is also used as a crafting component for the Geruda and Baruuk.

Gathering Tips

- Spaceport, Orb Vallis: try to get one of the enemies to put down a Reinforcement Beacon and wait until the beacon hits Alert Level 4. Number of enemies spawned is related to number of players nearby, and is capped. Going inside the base can cause the outside to reset and vice versa, but this means a new beacon must be planted and raised to level 4 again.
 - Commonly used Warframes for farming Toroids are Khora's Pilfering Strangledome, Hydroid's Pilfering Swarm, or Nekros' \(v3y Desecrate\).
- The first phase of the Exploiter Orb fight spawns tons of Mite Raknoids. The team can bring farming frames like Nekros, Khora, or Hydroid to enhance the drop chances of the Vega Toroids.
- Vega Toroids are an uncommon drop of Profit-Taker Phase 1.
- Several caves throughout the Orb Vallis are able to spawn Toroids as interactable objects. They have a low spawn rate, and are usually hidden in secluded alcoves in each cave. Toroids likely only have a chance of spawning in one or two set positions in a given cave (often near scannable Solaris memory fragments), although this needs confirmation.
 - Buffs such as Smeeta Kavat's charm affect the object.

Caves with Toroid spawns

- Toroid objects do not glow when viewed through a scanner.
- Loot Detector will show interactable Toroids on the mini-map.
