Mite Raknoid

 EDIT

The Mite Raknoid is a small green Raknoid Corpus proxy found in the Orb Vallis in groups of three. It spawns randomly, being initially buried underground or dangling from the ceiling of a cave or under the parasol of giant Vallis fungi from a web-like tether, before ambushing the players while out in the open or by descending from the ceiling in caves.

They will attack at long to medium ranges by either directly jumping at their target or by trying to slice into them by spreading their legs, propelling themselves like a throwing star, being able to cover quite a distance very fast and guaranteeing a  Slash proc. At short distances, they will also shock their enemy like a Ratel.

Notes

- It currently has no Codex entry despite being scannable.
- They take significantly increased knockback while ragdolled, so much so that a simple slam attack or a launcher weapon like the Angstrum will easily send them a few hundred meters into the air.
