Trivia

- Excalibur is named after the legendary sword of King Arthur. Many of Excalibur's alternate helmets feature names based off Arthurian legend.
- Excalibur is based on Hayden Tenno's suit from the original Dark Sector concept by Digital Extremes, WARFRAME's conceptual precursor.
 - Digital Extremes' previously released game Dark Sector is a reimaging of said concept, with its version of the suit being available as the Proto-Armor Skin.
- Excalibur costs less Platinum to purchase him outright than to rush construction of the components and main blueprint.
- He is the first of two Warframes with an unpolarized Aura slot, Nekros being the second.
- An Excalibur is shown being ripped apart by Alad V while wearing the Pendragon xS3WMXvkCSY)", a trailer for the PS4 release of WARFRAME.

- Prior to Update 14, Excalibur would use his equipped melee weapon when casting his abilities, regardless if it was impractical (casting Radial Javelin with a Galatine), nonsensical (Slash Dashing with the Kogake) or impossible (using any of his abilities without a melee weapon equipped). Update 14 changed this by making him generate an ethereal Skana when using his abilities, rather than using his melee weapon.
 - If there was no melee weapon equipped, then Excalibur would use the currently equipped weapon. (i.e. Radial Javelin with a Braton).
Humorously, ethereal copies of that weapon would appear upon using Radial Javelin.
- Before Hotfix 22.8.3 (2018-01-11), Excalibur parts blueprints dropped from Ambulas on Hades, Pluto. This is now the drop location of Trinity.
- In Update 23.0 (2018-06-15), Excalibur's Exalted Blade received a physical form to allow for customization, replacing its previous form which was made from pure energy.
 - The same update also allowed players to directly mod Exalted Blade.
- According to the Official Tenno Alphabet Cipher \(https://warframe.com/news/tenno-language-decoded\), the design on Excalibur's right shoulder is in fact a word that spells out "Hayden Tenno". The same word can be found on top of Excalibur's head.
- Excalibur's default helmet was added to the real-time strategy game Airmech as a victory gesture after Warframe beating Airmech in a vote of popularity between the two.
 - This was originally intended to be Excalibur Prime's default helmet, however the reason for this change is unknown.
- Excalibur's default helmet (along with the default helmets of Loki and Chroma) are available as unlockable antenna toppers \(https://www.facebook.com/RocketLeague/posts/1672959132925543\) in Rocket League (<http://store.steampowered.com/app/252950/>).
- Having 12 alternate helmets, Excalibur has the most alternate helmets out of any Warframe, with Excalibur Prime's being exclusive.
- Excalibur has the most variations out of any Warframe: base, Excalibur Prime (Founder's exclusive), Excalibur Umbra, and Excalibur Umbra Prime (Warframe China Exclusive).
