- The Vengeful Trickster Ephemera has a more pronounced effect in-game than what is depicted below due to filesize restrictions.
- Because of how Warframes are rendered in Archwing missions, the Vengeful Charge Ephemera becomes much more pronounced to the point of becoming visually jarring while using an Archwing or channeling Razorwing.

Notes

- Ephemera will inherit the color of the Warframe's attachments energy color, rather than the emissive color.
 - An exception to this is Vengeful Shockwave Ephemera which the stones are not affected by any color selection. The beams of light coming off the stones can be colored using the Warframe's Energy color. However, it is affected by Rhino's Iron Skin by which it can change color according to the Warframe's tint color if Iron Skin was cast by Rhino Prime, just like the owner.
 - A few ephemera also inherit the color of the Warframe's attachments accents color: the dragon bodies of Baurahn Prime, the arms of the Raptwing ephemera, and the various arm/knee spikes from the Seraphayre ephemera.
- All Ephemera and their blueprints are untradeable. The Vengeful and Sisters Ephemera are partial exceptions to this; while they cannot be traded by themselves, players can trade Converted Liches/Sisters who possess them, to others.
 - The Ephemera will be awarded to both the original progenitor of the Lich/Sister, and the buyer of the Converted Lich/Sister.

Trivia

- The Sister Ephemeras project Corpus lettering and iconography:
 - Gloriana, Zarina, and Lucretia translate to "Power In Prosperity, Prosperity In Victory".

Bugs

- The Frostfall and Spinneret Ephemera will persist visually on an Operator in the Orbiter by simply previewing them. Even if neither are equipped they will both visually persist at the same time until leaving and returning to Operator mode, and is only bugged on the Orbiter itself.
- The Eros Wings Ephemera's light trails persist when other Ephemeras are previewed within the menu until the Arsenal is left.
