Anitaku aka Gogoanime changed again?

I have

gogotaku.info as my base, it's suppose to be the "original" (site that used to own the first gogoanime)

The site for gogoanime since last month was changed to anitaku.to and gogoanime3.net that was set up by the "original"

However... today both sites are "down" or "access denied"

I searched Anitaku on google and a anitaku.io popped up.

However the "original" gogotaku.info did not change the "our site" on their page... so I am not sure if anitaku.io is actually part of the "original" or just another bootleg mirror from random ppls.

.io is a "fake" copy-paste site. Has been stating it was the "new" site trying to grab users since way back, some 4+ months ago, however the page setup is different and the original site never specified that it moved to .io (but specified the change to .to, and more recently to .so although might still be up on .to)

.so (previous .to) is just down for the day, with the host being unavailable, although will likely be fixed within the day again.
