What is the best way to decarb weed in a toaster oven?

Wondering what the ideal method of decarb is and how to know when it is done. I've noticed sometimes it sticks to tin foil and others it doesn't. I am not being consistent my way need advice. Thank you.

material/contaminates into the oil further worsening the weedy off taste.

You would want to finely grind it if you were limiting exposure to the heat so more surface area exposed. Agitating/stirring it during infusion to avoid shaking possible during infusion.

The aluminum foil packet seems to help retain heat away but i don't have lab results to back that up. More gentle that way.

I've noticed sometimes it sticks to tin foil and Don't open the oven during decarb. That keeps it brown.

Wrap your coarsely chopped buds in parchment paper. Then put that envelope in another made of aluminum foil.
