PodMic vs AT2040 for Couch Co-op

Question

Hi everyone,

I was looking into upgrading the audio equipment I use for recording two-person couch co-op let's plays. I currently use two USB cardioid condenser microphones, link here: USB Microphone Kit,UHURU USB Podcast Condenser Microphone Kit 192kHz/24bit Plug & Play PC Microphone Cardioid Microphone for Recording Gaming Broadcasting YouTube-UM900 : Amazon.ca: Musical Instruments, Stage & Studio

An issue we have though is that there is a lot of bleed-through, and also the quality isn't as good as I'd like it to be. I've mostly solved bleed-through issues by adjusting gain and using a noise gate, but I'd still like better audio quality.

I was reading that for two-person recording in the same room, two dynamic microphones would best suit the situation. After looking through many different dynamic mic's available, I've narrowed it down to the Rode PodMic

I own a Rode Podmic though and use it to record all of my non vr videos and I'm extremely happy with the sound quality, I could see myself using that mic for years to come. Heavy Boi though so if you get it be sure to get a good boom arm or stand
