Rode Podmic vs AT2020 vs MV7X

I posted a while back, and I have made a decision to buy an XLR mic, the focusrite 2i2, and I'm looking for some opinions on the three mics listed in the title of this post. I thought I had made a choice about the AT2020, but after more research, the rode Podmic and the mv7x have been peaking my interest. I'm a true novice to podcasting /voice over/voice acting and this would be my first sound equipment purchase. I'm leaning towards the rode Podmic, but they are all in my budget. I appreciate any reviews or feedback, thanks!

AT2020 is the better option, since you're interested in doing VO.

If you wanted a decent dynamic microphone for VO you'd be expending much more money than the ~100 bucks, for the Audio-Technica AT2020.
