[QUESTION] What would you do with $200 in Guitar Center gift cards?

QUESTION

Like the title says, I received GC gift cards. I have amps, guitars, and a (believe it or not) complete pedal board. I gig regularly

Looking local and nothing speaks to me. Looking online and buying strings, cables, etc feels like I'm wasting the gift cards.

What you be looking to spend your $200 on?

Edit: thank you for all the great ideas! I am leaning towards a baritone neck for one of my strats. Still entertaining ideas though!!

Regift it man. Or do the Merry Christmas thing, go hang out in Guitar Center today and wait until some kid walks up with barely enough money to buy their first instrument and gift them the instrument. Give the gift of music ... literally.

Buy a beater guitar from the used section and donate it to a children's charity (or faith organization).

I would use it when I need something. I wouldn't just spend it to spend it.

I'd enjoy not paying for strings for a long time

Strings. Stock up on strings. They're not ever going to be cheaper.

Scrounging for ideas for small crap at Guitar Center when you have everything already is like a 1 out of 10 on the fun feeling scale.

Getting the next guitar you're obsessing over for $200 off feels like a deal and feels like a 9 out of 10 on the fun feeling scale to me.

So obviously, hold on to them. Let nature take its course, because you know there will be another axe.

I'd just stock up on strings and picks.

BUY CRAP GUITARISTS HATE BUYING!!!

Strings, cables, strap, picks, patch cables...

Buying a sexy thing like a pedal is fun, but buying shit I hate buying with free money always strikes me as the better deal.

Do Not buy from Musician's Friend on Reverb or otherwise. $500 pedal, UPS confirms the package was delivered to a whole different city, Musicians Friend won't refund me or sort things out with UPS.
