Transferring items between alts

Question

Is there a shared storage or an easy way to transfer items to an alt? I want to reroll a new class to try this weekend and would like to transfer some items over. I'd prefer not to have to find another player to trade with to make the transfer happen. Thanks in advance!

Haven't tried it yet but I heard mention of a guild storage, might be something to look into. If someone can help you out you can invite someone to a guild you make, promote them and have that person invite you alts then have them leave afterwards.

It was brought up once awhile back and haven't heard anything sense so not sure if guild storage is a thing though, only other option would be to make a friend who can transfer for you.

Scroll down to the player housing section.

Transfer of resources and materials to alts will only be possible via player housing storage, as this is local to the specific house.[31]
