Windows 11 activation

plz tell me if this is not the right place to post this. So I am on windows 11 pro and it is asking me activate windows rn, I tried to find a product activation key somewhere but I cant find one that works. I have found an alternative thats called KMSPico, Im not sure what it is but its supposed to help get rid of this annoying banner on the bottom right of my screen, my question is, if I activate windows through KMSPico will it still send me and allow me to update windows if there is an update or no? any help is appreciated.

malware to the party, you know?

Best bet? Save yourself the headache and get a legit product key from Microsoft or an authorized retailer. That way, you get all the benefits—updates, security, peace of mind—all without crossing any sketchy lines. Trust me, your future self will thank you! Get legit, stay legit. #NinaKnowsBest

Take whatever key you already have (win7, 8, 10) on another computer and put it in. Or even, let it tell you it needs a key and never bother giving it. There's not many feature locked out. Or if you really wish to hack, use another operating system, there's way more fun to have where no one asks for keys 😊
