From the site:

WARFRAME USES UDP PORTS 4950 AND 4955 & THE TCP PORT RANGE 6695 - 6699. Your firewall needs to let traffic on those ports from any address through to your PC (and from these ports on your PC to any address).

So you will need three different rules to cover that. Name them whatever.

Internal IP should be set to the IP of your computer, Google it.

External port and internal port set to the same. Looks like there's a tool tip for adding a range.

Then just select TCP or UDP
