-Aces_High-

The 5090 targeted audience isnt enough to warrant camping out at the store.

From everything I've seen on forums, I dont think people will be flocking to stores by the masses to get a 5090. Its price is out of reach for an extensive % of the community. Maybe the 5080 for most users but with only 16gb I expect lots of people will be waiting for 3rd party benches before even considering it.

I'd wager when the 5070/ti drops we'll see more of a black friday PS5 line outside the building.

There may be good lines, but theyre not all out to buy a 5090. They're out there for a 5080 gamble. Come back to this thread on the 31st and let me know!

Hopefully. And hopefully that price point will deter some people lol.
