What's it gonna be like buying the 5090/5080 in NYC?

Considering there's like 4 microcenters within an hour from eachother in NYC and an equal amount of Best Buy's, you guys think it's gonna be difficult?

Drove by the Westbury location about 30 minutes ago, line is about 8-10 people deep about 24 hours out from release. My guess is if you're not out there in line by like noon or sometime early afternoon, you're out of luck.

Another poster stated that they were explicitly told that westbury is not allowing lines, they will call police, and that they are using a lottery system.

I wonder how this will turn out?

Seeing all the camping discussion for the 5080/5090 launch had me reminiscing back to my days of camping for the 3080 during peak scalping szn.
