Which is the most STABLE mesh network system?

I'm looking for opinions on the most stable mesh wifi brand, my friends. My old eero system was better than my brand new TP-link deco X55 and S4 system with 5 units which I am returning. I don't care about speed (have 180 mbps), just stability with ring cameras, Poe cameras, thermostats, etc. and need ports for a couple of backhaul connections. I guess I have a lot of interference which is causing ring cameras to miss many events on my tp-link deco system. Mesh units are constantly changing signal strength over wifi. Any opinions are appreciated! I'm going mad trying to sort this all out!
