Guilds in PoE 2: do we need to recreate? How are tags created?

Discussion

^ First we were told guilds would sync across PoE 1 -> PoE 2 but that is not happening now.

1. Are guilds still actually supported in PoE 2 at all? If, so we'll need to re-create them?
2. How will the Guild Tag system work? Currently it is based off of Maps in PoE 1. Will we now require "Waystones" in PoE 2 to create Guild Tags?

Anyone else figure out the tagging system? I don't remember how it was in POE1. The POE forum posts show that you need specific maps for various symbols. How do I acquire said maps?

were designed to transfer seamlessly between the two parts.

However, this direction has since shifted for quite long time ago, and the two parts are now two separate games instead. Consequently, guilds cannot be transferred because the system isn't tied to individual accounts but rather exists as a shared space for all members. Therefore, you'll need to recreate your guild and invite your members again in POE2.

As for the tagging aspect, I'm not entirely clear on that, so I'll leave it for someone else to address.

We lost 185 dollars worth of guild tabs that members have contributed towards and we acquired during tab sales. And now our guild in 2 has none because I don't want to buy more and end up getting the old ones back (remember buying all those tabs just for the quad tab to drop and you now have 37 unused tabs 😭😭😭)

Does anyone know how to leave a guild

While in-game in PoE2 EA press j and on the guild page in your social screen click leave on the button to the right of your name.

You can be re-invited and rejoin/decline at any time.

Note that as a guild leader in order to leave the guild you will have to appoint a new guild leader and then after you get yourself demoted to officer/member/initiate you can leave guild through the method described above.

Has anyone figured out how to set the guild tag? I tried tossing a bunch of t1 maps in it just to see, and nothing happened.

I did the same and would also like to know

This is speculation but I believe the guild tag feature will probably be released/available when each map gets it's own base.

Right now waystones have no base (i.e. Augury, Deserted, Hidden Grotto) only tiers. Since you can't combine 15 symbols (current waystone tiers) to get all possible combinations that are available for tags it will probably come down to moving bases which are now ascribed to atlas biomes onto waystones. It was mentioned somewhere that endgame will have ~150 maps.

Going from PoE1's guild tag system where the base map determines the symbol generated for the tab it is highly likely that a similar system will exist in PoE2 once the atlas and mapping as a concept are finalized.

Never played PoE before, saw the recent long reveal stream and was blown away. Have question regarding F2P and supporting the game.
