Trial of Sekhemas two player

Game Feedback

Me an a friend have been playing POE2 together leveling up etc.... and we've been attempting to get our third ascension together.

However one of the things that seems to be happening that I can't tell if it's a bug or intended is that relics only appear to apply to the host of the instance. We can sometimes be as far as 3k honor apart 7k-4k depending on who is hosting the run, and the honor resist also appears to only effect the host, so the same hit can crush our honor or not depending on who it hits.

Either making the relics effect all players or letting every player input their own relics would be fantastic.

I am also wondering about this. Does anyone know how relics work in co-op?

resistance you should have like the host has. in the map you can look at the bottom it says relic effects. when running with a friend it also says none.

PSA to any newer players: Don't leave the Trial of Sekhemas reward room before you're completely sure you're done in there.

Trial of Sekhemas is the least fun, and most obnoxious thing GGG has ever made.

Were the Trials designed to just frustrate the players instead of you know, fun?
