Fiio M11, Stuck in situation

Hey so I have a Fiio M11 player, my headphones are HD599's. At the beginning of this year I realised I was only getting sound on one side, I bought a new cable realised it's not the cable or the headphones, the 3.5mm jack is broken on the player itself somehow. I'm not sure what to do as I can't find any cables that will work, the headphone jack is so narrow that even the tiny 2. Whatever cables can't fit in. Does anyone know what I can do? I'm not very technically Knowledgeable. It would be seriously appreciated, I miss my music

Search eBay for balanced sennheiser hd599 cable? I'm assuming the regular m11 has a balanced output tho

The M11 also has 2.5 balanced and 4.4 balanced output ports, and you can get adapters to match with the size your headphone cables. Or if possible, change the headphone cables to 2.5 or 4.4. You also have Bluetooth output, so wireless phones are another option.

Is there not some sort of problem with using a 3.5mm male with an adapter that puts it out to be a balanced 2.5/4.4? I thought it didn't work properly for some reason
