Best escort sites that are legit? Reddit guide for Sex worker sites

Hi guys, I am looking to see a sex worker soon on my business trip to Texas. In Canada I'm usually using forums and review boards like Terb, Merb to see which escorts are worth visiting. Not sure if that's a thing in the United States. I would prefer to use one that has providers that have verified pictures but it's not mandatory, I understand that there are a lot of ladies that do not want to expose their identity to any of these sites. Seeing that backpage isn't a viable option anymore either, what would you guys say are the best escort sites overall in the US (and possibly Europe as well)?

listcrawler and tryst are okay and generally a lot of the profiles get verified so you don't have to worry about scammed.. I mostly transitioned to adultfriendfinder though now. It's not really made for escorts but more of a hook up site. There are many hookers on there though which is why i mention it. Sometimes I pay them, sometimes I don't. Just depends on whether or not the girl i come across is "working" or not lol.

I transitioned from regular escort sites to Seeking a few years ago and never looked back. Why would I pay $300-$400 for one hour with a girl that sees several dudes a day when I can just pay $2,000 per MONTH and have a cute college student all to myself? Sure, it might sound like a lot. But if you see multiple escorts for multiple hours each month, it starts to make a lot more sense to do the sugar daddy thing.

There are actually a lot of really good ones in the US, compared to Canada. There are a lot of forums dedicating to reviewing escorts and massage parlors too. Backpage is no longer an option yes this is true, but it has been replaced by Bedpage which in my opinion is definitely a good alternative.

there are budget escorts who you can find when you need a little company in your life. Female escorts, male escorts, and even trans escorts put their listings on various escort sites that you can check out whenever you're in the mood.

The problem is that many of these websites are elaborate scams, so it gets a bit hard to stay on top of things. To browse safely through an escort directory, you should first check the legitimacy of the site that you are using. It's easy to be blinded by the thousands of choices that you see online. The good thing is while this may be the case, there are ways for you to find out if it's legit or not.

If we're being honest, most of them truly do suck. The ones that don't are Tryst, Slixa, Bedpage, Doubelist, Eros (kind of), SkipTheGames, and maybe a few more. Those are the biggest ones though and they are definitely the ones you'll find the most escorts on. Whether or not you will find escort review boards like Terb Merb and Perb will depend on the city/region you are visiting. Most of the major cities have escort review sites.

SkipTheGames is my fav because it's free and has a lot of ladies working on it. I see the appeal of backpage but i found that a lot of the profiles are fake so i no longer use that one unless I am in NYC or chicago or some other big metropolitan area. Tryst has the advantage of having verified hookers with face pics, but they are expensive.

depends on where you are but backpage and tryst are a good place to start, especially in Texas. I know Leolist is pretty big in Canada (wish it was in the states too, i hate most classified ads sites we have). Ashley Madison is also surprisingly decent, you'd be surprised to see how many MILF's on there are willing to get fucked for $$$$.

best = subjective. What exactly are you looking for? Full service or massage? Cheap escorts or luxury? Verified pics are something you come across pretty rarely nowadays, at least that's what I have found to be true. Also Eros sucks now, don't know why some guy mentioned it.
