It's pinned at the top of the forum, it's the first reply on every thread in here, and most importantly... it shows each and every person the link when they are about to create a new thread.

Also, these people are so paranoid about going on a rom website. It's so strange. Like do these people only stay at the first page of a google search?

Notice that some people are new users coming from a google search. You need to automod a notification that requires you to say you checked before posting

"I cant be arsed to find what I'm looking for. Can someone just send me a link to download X rom and Y emulator? Make sure the speeds are good and legit. Zip file? I asked for a rom file. Not a zip. What am I even going to do with 1.zip and 2.zip? You guys are not helping"!!!

People now a days are lazy.
