I don't know why there are no comments on this post but this is one the best comparisons for PRO/AIR debate that should be pinned on other subs.

How did you make BOTW work on MacOS?

Thank you! I appreciate it! I use CEMU for BOTW, but you do have to have a working ROM of the game in order to play it.

I'll jump in with other folks on this post: this is exactly the kind of comparison/review I was looking for. I'm making the leap over from Windows and I'm trying to decide on the right mac for myself. I'm coming over from a fairly beefy windows laptop (middle-end) so I was worried about losing various bits of quality here and there, but my biggest worry between macs was screen quality.

Knowing how sensitive I am to visual stuff (motion sickness, headaches from staring at a computer screen too long) it's good to know about Performance. I've been leaning towards the 15" MBA for a while, but this pretty much cinched it for me! Thanks!

Great post :) I'm waffling between the same two devices right now and this has been in line with my intuition, I think I'll also be getting the 15 air. The only concern for me is I had a 14" Pro from work before and thought the screen was too small for split screen work, wondering if you've run into this use case with your MBA?

terms of usability. When deciding whether or not to get this M2 Air machine, I used the 14" a lot at the store, just to get a feel for it, so I do have experience with this machine as well. I have my scaling at default, but the more space option is also pretty comfortable, if you feel you need more space for split-screening. I used that for a little bit. I personally think that the 15" Air has the perfect size screen, not too big, not too small. That should be taken with a little bit of owner's bias though.

I also switched to Edge about a month ago from Safari, and I have to say the in-browser split screen has been pretty useful. Doesn't really change anything visibly, but managing the tabs is a lot easier that way, if you are trying to do two browser windows. Good luck with your purchase decision!

Thanks for taking the time to post this. I've been struggling with which to get, but I think you've helped me settle on the MBA 15". I have one through work and it's an amazing machine.

Thanks for your post! I currently have an M2 MacBook Pro and I'm considering switching to a 15-inch MacBook Air due to the weight of this beast I carry around all day long.
