What settings for autostart proxmox and autostart VM?

Question

If move my proxmox test box. I can do a nice full shutdown. When I power it on, proxmox should start on its own, right? It is now. I would assume it still does that.

And then the VMs on proxmox can also autostart? I would want the VM to power on when proxmox comes online. I believe there's a way to do that and not have to tell proxmox to start the VM (unless I can script that or something so proxmox does that on start up). Is there a way to have VMs autostart when proxmox start when the physical tower is powered on?

Bro its enough man.

You did more threads in here the last day than most people do in their lifes.

We are always helpful, but we are not your own Personal Support Team that does q&a's

1. Proxmox autostart in bios
2. Autostart for VM (while creating on the first Page with the advanced view) in options

Yep, that's the answer. It's not checked by default.
