Headscale-Admin now with ACL Management!

Hey, everyone! I have shifted focus back to the development of Headscale-Admin and have added support for ACL management. Instead of simply providing a JSON editor, I tried my hardest to make an intuitive, useful, decent-looking, functional UI surrounding the creation of ACL policies and everything related to it. Note that ACL policies can only be used via the HeadScale v0.23 API if you use it in database mode. File mode is not supported through the API.

Here are some images of the UI: <https://imgur.com/a/qcRNB2H>

As of this moment, ACL support is only found in the dev branch using the container `goodieshq/headscale-admin:dev` on docker. It is also designed to work exclusively with Headscale version 0.23 and I have dropped support for the legacy API. Due to the changes of the headscale API, I will be changing my versioning so that the version tag of headscale-admin will be the same as whatever version of headscale it targets, i.e. `:v0.23` will be for the same headscale version. `:latest` will point to the release that is compatible with the latest stable version

Thanks for your effort. I was using Headscale Admin until the v0.23 update broke compatibility. Will spin it up again soon.

It has been working with 0.23 for some time using the `:dev` tag only while ACL stuff was in development. It's officially in testing mode right now but I plan to roll it into `:latest` within a few days! Definitely appreciate you trying it out :)

I have officially added 0.23 and 0.24 support using tags ``:0.23`` and ``:0.24`` for the docker image!

I was working on this for a bit unfortunately it stalled. The biggest need for this is rule building and editing. The rest is easy json if you can grok it. I would encourage folks to focus on rule editing and stacking as everything else will fall into place afterwards once this solid foundation is in place. Would love to help if I can!

This is already working! The GUI ACL builder works great, including with existing ACL policy sets. It's even better in headscale-admin:0.24.9 because it also contains metadata that allows for custom naming and keeping track of the collapsed state within the interface.
