Parallels one-time purchase?

Help

Did Parallels get rid of the one-time purchase option? There's still support docs about it but I went to buy it today and suddenly it's not on the website anymore, at least from what I can see. It was there last week when I got the trial version to try out.

You don't need Parallels. Use VMWARE fusion player (13.5). This is free for personal use.

Performance is as good or better than Parallels (I used to use Parallels Pro since I wanted to allocate more than 8GB Ram which you can't do in base Parallels product, so I was able to compare the 2)

Can you load beta IPSW into it? I want to play with the next beta when it comes out without destroying my Mac.

They don't make it obvious but they still have it. The lifetime upgrade just ran me $60. The new lifetime license is $130. Standard only...

Scroll all the way to the bottom (past the FAQs). <https://www.parallels.com/products/desktop/#compare>
