Noob friendly guide for using Windows Firewall like MacOS's LittleSnitch/Lulu?

Open

I've searched online threads about windows alternatives for Mac based Lulu or LittleSnitch and found that the best solution was to use the old windows firewall. Problem is that the interface is quite advanced and it's been difficult for me to understand which process belongs to which apps and restrict their network access respectively. Is there an alternative software similar to Lulu or maybe a friendly guide on using windows firewall without screwing up?

- open overflow menu (bottom right carrot)
- + right click wfc (yellow/green checkmark)
- + select menu panel
- + navigate to options
- + click shell integration (make sure tick-box is checked)
- + find either shortcut/.exe to application you want to block through firewall
- + right click said shortcut/.exe
- + select "Block through Windows Firewall"
