Recommended configuration for Portmaster and what can be used to complement it

Even though I'm more privacy conscious than the average person, unfortunately I lack technical understanding so I'm not sure what settings on my pc are made redundant or what I can use to buff up the defenses (without causing issues) so to speak.

I'll just give my example. Currently I use a VPN and I was looking into changing the DNS. This search led me to Portmaster. Eventually I want to upgrade to use the SPN because as I understand it, it does what VPNs can do (but better) and can't do.

But right now there are other services like Proton that have multiple products in a bundle and I use more than 1.

So if I wanted to absolutely keep Portmaster, here are some questions: what would the ideal configuration be and should I even bother pairing it with a VPN?

Can I use portmaster with it? (I don't really get the ipv6, ipv4 stuff etc.)

You can pair it with a VPN, just be aware of the workarounds.

<https://wiki.safing.io/en/Portmaster/App/Compatibility> SPN is a better technology anyways.

Yes you can use nextdns.

You can run it alongside Defender just fine.

Thank you! Do you know how to test if it's working?
