Dedicated VPN; or Torrent-friendly/No-Log VPS (for VPN and Seedbox)

I use a Sabai OS router (Tomato based) with VPN Accelerator (Ubuntu based) for better throughput. My home connection is FTTH 100 Mbps symmetrical.

My current VPN provider is throttling my connection and is not torrent-friendly anymore so I need a new VPN for my home network.

The new VPN must be/have:

1. Dedicated server (for better/faster performance)
2. Dedicated IP (easier for remote access / also avoids being denied access to websites due IP blacklisting - I see this a lot on VPN providers with shared IPs)
3. USA-based IP, preferably NY or FL (so I don't get locked out from online banking)
4. IP should be recognized as ISP instead of DCH (some websites block access from VPNs) - I know this is seedbox needs.

Keep all torrenting on the seedbox, don't get blocked from your banking etc by having your own dedicated IP on your VPN that's indistinguishable from "normal" traffic.

You don't really want your own dedicated IP for torrenting, since that removes the deniability factor for the provider. Leave dealing with any DMCA's to a proper seedbox provider (or better still, ditch public torrents and avoid them altogether).

Over 250,000 requests for user data from 01/2024 - 06/2024. ExpressVPN has nothing to share thanks to the no-logs policy. I love the transparency.
