PSA: About the new Peer to Peer Wireless setting of the Apple TV and the Homepods performance

It's a new setting since tvOS 18.4. It's located within settings/Airplay and HomeKit. According to Apple, for this setting to appear on the Apple TV menu, it requires the Apple TV to be hardwired to the router. If not, the setting wont appear. Interesting. When Apple TV is connected to the Internet with an Ethernet cable, you can put it's Wi-Fi in low-power mode to save energy. Note: Ethernet is not available on Apple TV 4K (3rd generation) Wi-Fi. Connect an Ethernet cable to Apple TV to switch from a wireless to wire...

Can I use Homepod as a remote loud speaker to let my wife answer my phone?

Sometimes when my wife is at home, and I am outside, I call my wife, but she didn't hear her phone ring. I want to install a remote loud speaker at home so I can remotely speak to draw my wife's attention to look at her phone. I wonder if Homepod could serve this purpose.

What I hate about Siri

I have a HomePod mini and it is perfect !!! I love it !!! But sometimes Siri is too silly. I am asking some questions like (tell me information about Percy Jackson) and Siri replies (I found some web results I can show them if you asks shin from your iPhone) but when I am asking the same question in a different way (Siri who Percy Jackson is) Siri starts tor was information according to Wikipedia. I say that she is silly cause there are things that she can do but she is just saying that she found some results on the web. This i...

Wireless Audio Calibration update in tvOS 18.5

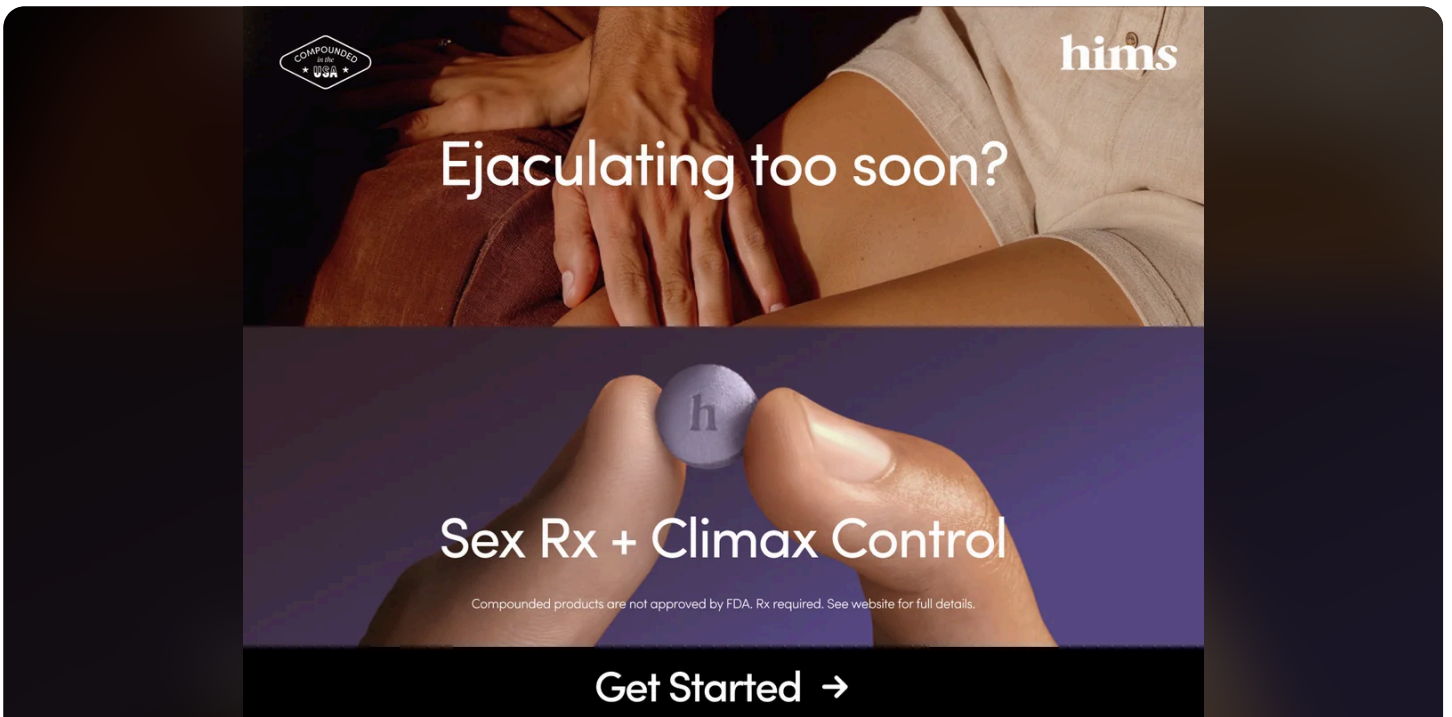

Wireless Audio Sync now has 2 test tones: the original stereo PCM one and a new Dolby Atmos tone. The two tones will only work if the iOS device is also updated to 18.5.

Is that you literally have to ask again. Why can't Siri / Apple remember the question and have a notification ready on your phone for you to tap.

What are the chances a new HomePod will be release anytime soon?

I have 1 HomePod mini for a small bed room connected to Apple TV. I would like to upgrade it to a full sized AirPod. But not sure when next gen/refresh is coming out. Thanks in advance

Seeking advice for placing Homepods for a TV above a fireplace

Doing a new build of the family room, so all options are in play. We're striving for a very clean look, probably no mantle between the fireplace and TV (65 - 75"). Where should the Homepods be and how should they be mounted?

Which Homepod will be more suitable as a white noise device?

A bit of context. One of my long standing problems are noisy neighbours, something bearable until noises happen in the bedroom. I need to sleep at least 8 hours to feel healthy during the day, if I start sleeping 7 or 6h each day, after 3 or 4 days I start to notice my physical and mental health degrading. Some people feel well sleeping only 5 or 6 hours, great for them! I'm not one of those. I'm also quite sensitive to noises. And if I'm hearing my upstairs neighbour's TV, until 2 or 3AM, I just have trouble sleeping....

Siri responding casually to conversation

I was getting ready for a meeting and sometimes I do a little prep when I say the keypoints out loud so that I don't forget anything important. I'm going through my keypoints and I say the words "this technology is logical and predictable" and Siri from my HomePod casually interrupts with "that's good to hear". Needless to say it caught me by surprise and it kind of scared me as I was alone in my room. My HomePod is listening for 'Hey Siri' only and I'm pretty sure I didn't say those words. Have you had a similar...

Siri on HomePod is astonishingly bad.

I'm sure everyone is aware of this but I feel like ranting. I'm fully immersed in the apple ecosystem now and the last thing to go was a google speaker assistant thingy. I don't interact with Siri all that much, but did interact with the google assistant quite a bit. Switching to the HomePod has shown me how terrible Siri actually is. It often does something I tell it one time (like "Siri. Play KEXP in the kitchen") and the next time I get "sorry I can't do that". I don't have TV and it constantly tells me that it can't find a TV...

HomePod Mini stereo-pair volume suddenly became low on Apple TV.

I've been using my two Homepods as default audio output on my Apple TV 4k (3rd gen) since January. The sound was very good, normal, until recently. I noticed that the volume has gotten low when watching movies on TV app, even on Infuse player. I have to turn the volume up almost all the way to get the same volume as before. However, the sound on YouTube works fine which I find very confusing. And I saw the alert on my iPhone Home app saying something like "You have to sign in into iCloud on your Ap..."

Cleaning of the HomePod

So basically baby had explosive diarrhoea this evening. Cleared 4 ft with a solid stream of poop and managed to hit the bedside table and the HomePod. Any tips for cleaning the material?! Or is it new HomePod time?

Great for Small to Medium Spaces

I call them Lunar Landers! I have been very pleased with these speakers. I am in a small condo & space is precious. I don't need 5.1 surround, just A+ sound with separation. These speakers use walls to reflect sound and simulate surround quite well. Again, this is not full blown surround, just great sound for a small environment. If you don't subscribe to the Apple eco-system then I doubt you would be interested. I have AppleTV & these speakers connected seamlessly. Do your homework and decide what suits...

HomePod placement

I have a HomePod in my basement main area and another straight down in another room. I have them setup as a pair together. Is it recommended to do that or just have them separate from one another since they're not necessarily in the same room

New IOS 18.5 feature

I've just discovered that after updating your HomePod, if you say, "Siri, is the update finished" you're met with a new vocal response.

How do I add time to an existing timer?

I figured this would be a pretty simple command but my HomePod doesn't seem to get it and I can't seem to find any answers on Google. I want to just be able to say "Siri, add one minute to my timer" but when I do this, she starts a NEW timer for one minute. I swear this used to work but now I'm at a loss. Am I going crazy? Am I missing something key word or phrase?
