LG C4 foot replacement?

The 42 model has 2 small feet.

The little tiny thing that slides in before the screws go in broke off as I was snapping In. It went flying through the room and a hour later I still haven't found it. I know I know I might think of wall mounting in the future

But I was not expecting it to break that easy. Would LG send me a new one? I'm not expecting free I just didn't know where I should probably start

Sorry I won't answer your question since I don't know but I plan to buy the same TV and use it as a monitor.

Can we remove the feet manually in order to mount it?

Sure can. The legs are detachable and thry are very easy to put on and I'm guessing they will be easy to detach
