Good Anime Indexer?

Indexer

I'm new to using the whole arr suite and related tools. I've added every possible public indexer to sonarr but I can't find some episode of some anime. I was looking for a good suggestion for a cheap indexer that's got good variety. I'd probably have no idea how to configure it with Jackett and Sonarr but I could probably figure it out. Thanks ahead of time!

The other advice is good re: AnimeTosho, frankly it's better then any of the paid indexers in terms of anime.

I would also recommend setting up Release Profiles (Settings > Profiles) and assigning them to your shows via Tags. Doing it this way you can control which release group(s) get grabbed for a particular show. This matters less with non-anime usually, but with anime it can matter quite a bit at times.

But a little release profile can weed out the shitty releasers and prioritise the good ones. Only issue I have now is Sonarr renaming anime (Renaming TV is essential but anime is another story) so that neither me nor Taiga know wtf the episode is.

I'd just delete jackett, it's pretty antiquated. Get prowlarr and add animetosho and some other indexers. For airing stuff, really all you'd need is animetosho and an indexer like nzbplanet or nzbgeek. Maybe both. For like older anime or anime with a bunch of seasons, if you can't find it, just search a tracker. Nyaa would work probably.

If you're looking for cheap, I'd suggest AnimeTosho (free) and AltHub ($10/year but wait for Black Friday) - they have been pretty good to me for anime.

If you're following the guides from r/animepiracy, you'll find a good amount of "Best Releases" on AltHub but these are usually Blu-ray rips, so they can be quite large in size. Otherwise, AnimeTosho really is the best way to go
