Best way to mount shares within Ubuntu VM?

Hi all,

I've set up an instance of Ubuntu within UnRAID and am not sure what the best way of mounting the shares is. I would just do it by mounting a network share like normal (adding SMB://UnRAID/Share to fstab) but am wondering whether there's a more 'internal' way of doing it.

Running the latest stable release I noticed there was an option when setting up the VM to add a share, but I can't see any effect from trying that.

It's been a while since I used any VMs in UnRAID, so apologies if this is rather basic stuff.

Advice much appreciated!
