The XFX ad for these magnetic air fans just gives me the visual impression of the wheels coming off of the GPU design, since the fan blades look like wheels.

If you are fortunate to have a case with first this may not be exciting

And tbh I haven't had a problem with graphics card fans that can't be solved with canned air

It depends, if they'd just use high quality fans across the board it wouldn't matter much but even high end brands have a history of using junk that needs replaced before long.

Neat.

XFx did this before didn't they? I remember a card with easy removable fans in the olden times.

Neat idea, I know they got a kinda bad rep for quality in more recent times but XFX RX580s were my favourite for being high quality. On the AMD side of things it seems like there was a lot more competition on quality than on Nvidia, have been kinda shocked at how cheap/crappy some of the Nvidia cards are built even the higher end brands.
