Cleaning my 6 month old encore this morning and I feel like I didn't notice these marks before. Anything to be worried about?

The first time o cleaned my burrs I got a bit of rust. Take it out of the plastic housing and hit it with a bit of steel wool.

I don't know about the Baratza, but I'm pretty sure 1zpresso said their steel burr hand grinders can routinely be flushed out by grinding dry oatmeal in them. I read home-barista users running dry white rice through electric grinders.

I also read that high percentage rubbing alcohol can be use me to wipe down burrs. Not sure on that though.

My bad. Figured if I dried it properly it'd be fine. Oh well. The upgraded M2 burr is on its way so I guess live and learn.

Did you order both the cone and ring burr? The m2 burr is only the cone burr. The ring burr is the same on both grinders so you'll also need to order that one if you haven't.

The m2 is the cone burr, not the ring burr you pictured...

Mine has this as well. I don't think it's rust (it doesn't present as such but maybe there are multiple kinds of rust? Why, yes there is!). It hasn't impacted my grind but I'm sure you could take a magic eraser or scour pad on a sponge to lightly wipe it away.
