Error Code: s1001 (network) in Plex Media Server

Help

About 6 months ago I started getting Error Code: s1001 (network). At that time I went through all sorts of trouble shooting (renaming the library, looking at my firewall) and after days and days (literally) gave up and moved over the VLC. I like it, but want Plex working again.

Finally getting the courage to try to fix Plex again today. I've started from scratch - deleted an reinstalled everything. Server installs on the Shield no problem. I can see the server on the web app and can add folders to the library from my NAS. They scan in just fine, I can see them all both on the Web app and Shield. Everything looks great until I try to play something and all files come back with Error Code: s1001 (network) across all my devices.

It's confusing because this set-up worked before, I'm not sure what's changed. I can access everything fine on the NAS thru the Shield via VLC. I know there are lots of posts about this, some are over my head in technology skill...it just seems like I'm missing something basic as this all worked before.

Just chiming in I've got a fresh install of plex with same issue. None of the fixes I've seen work but will report back if that changes.

Edit: Whelp. Not going to be much help, tried meticulously checking each setting and pouring over the debug logs, but in the end things just started working after restarting the computer the server was on.

Just got the idea (I'm slow) to move some media to the Shield's storage to see if I can get it to play. Moved one TV show from the NAS to local Shield storage and created a new library. It scans and looks great. Try to plan, no luck, Same error (s1001) . So my thought above this is a permissions error with the NAS I suppose isn't a good guess anymore. I have no guesses left or ideas for next steps. I'm stumped, please help.

Wish I had the last 24 hour back! So frustrating. Now I remember why I've ignored this the last 6 months, it's just takes so much time to troubleshoot.

Wow, 1.2k views of this post so far without any ideas. All sorts of content on the web about Error Code: s1001, most posts seem unresolved.

I've got this thing so basic now, can't understand why it won't work. Server on the Shield, media on the Shield, brand new library, scans in fine, looks great but won't play (error Code: s1001). Everything is on it's most current version and newish hard drives.

My Plex on nvidia shield killed itself today with this error. Pretty much nothing plays now. Clearly a bad update came through.

This started happening for me today, too. It sucks, but I'm somewhat comforted that it's not just me.

issue however I can see the server, scan all the media, see the media in my apps across devices but when I try to play anything get the error. I just downloaded some more media and a rescan found it, so it all seems connected. I'm confused.

In this article there are five fixes.

<https://appuals.com/error-code-s1001-network-in-plex-media-player/>

Method 1: Reinstalling the Plex Server - Did that.

Method 2: Removing Custom URLs from the Extras menu - I don't have any custom URLs.

Method 3: Repairing the Corrupt Plex Database - I have set up a brand new database, new library, new folder so assuming I don't need to do this? Plus the server is on my Shield so not sure how to issue the SQL commands there and this starts to get a little over my head.

Method 4: Disabling 3rd Party Interference (if applicable) - I'm not using any 3rd part security

Should I be trying to figure out option 3 a bit more? Any help out there would be appreciated very much.

Been having this problem for the last week or so. I was able to get it to stop after using the PlexDBRepair program. It looks like the issue stems from a corrupted database.

I first restarted the computer, because someone said that it fixed it for them. Then I used this <https://github.com/ChuckPa/PlexDBRepair> program to rebuild my DB. Haven't had the problem in 2 days. think this did it.

Good luck
