Choose a Shark Stick Vacuum... and the confusion that it is.

Purchase Advice (Canada)

I think I've got it narrowed down to three but I honestly can't figure out which is the best buy and what the difference is, nor how their model numbers work.

I ordered the ZS360c from Amazon and it arrives tomorrow. It seems like what I'm after but I just decided to check the Shark website and they have the HZ600c for the same price (and an extra 10% off) or the 2000c Vertex (for the same price as the other two, after the 10%).

Can anyone help me out? I can't tell how these are different, nor which is the better buy.

2000C has the Vertex motor and the newest DuoClean with Powerfins Brushroll.

I'm not a fan of Shark's corded stick vacuums because they don't have hepa filters and the 3 models above have subpar brushrolls. Any DuoClean brushroll has no suction on the front fluffy brushroll so it's not really doing much. The Powerfins don't clean carpets as well as the Self Cleaning Brushroll with regular bristles and the Powerfins have been reported to wear out much faster.

All is not bad. If you still want a Shark stick vacuum the cheapest one is the best one the Rocket ZS350C $179 CAD has the better Self-Cleaning Brushroll without DuoClean. However, the Rocket still doesn't have a hepa filter or a hose.

I think the Navigator Liftaway Speed ZU560C $239 CAD is a better choice among Shark vacuums. Navigators aren't big and heavy to begin with and this Navigator Liftaway Speed has the better Self-Cleaning Brushroll without the DuoClean. The Navigator is more powerful and it has a hose and liftaway features and a hepa filter.

Wow! Thank you so much for the detailed response! I really appreciate you breaking down the details and a better recommendation!

Can't edit the post but it's mostly hard flooring, med.-pile carpet on the lower level. We have 2 cats, as well.

Currently using a 5-6 year old Shark DuoClean Complete and it now has an issue where the brushes won't always start up when the head is connected. Disconnecting/reconnecting it a few times will fix the issue and it'll run fine, it just sometimes takes quite a few tries before it works.

Which one did you pick and what was your review of it? I'm in the market for a new vacuum.

I ended up going with the 2000c with the power fins and have been satisfied with it. It's mostly used on hardwood so the fins are great for that.

It's been good on carpet, as well, but that's just our lower room... Though kids and a cat do get things dirty it does well cleaning it up.
