Black girl concealer?

Beauty & Hair

I'm looking for a good concealer, can be name brand or drug store. I want to feel like I'm not wearing anything at work and without using heavy foundation. I have acne scars and hyperpigmentation so it's always frustrating trying to find my shade, that's lightweight and full coverage. I've tried a color corrector and I look way too red. I've tried others where I just look ashy. I've just about given up:/

Tarte or fenty (lowkey wouldn't recommend fenty if you have fine lines). Honestly, if you want your makeup to look nice without applying a lot of it, you gotta "fix" your base first.

Nars & Fenty are good for coverage. Best thing to color correct rather than a separate RED color corrector, get a concealer in your shade but on the warmer end. It looks more natural without being too harsh.

Bobbi Brown is also good. They used to have(I don't know if they still have it), a little 2 in 1 pot, with concealer and baking powder. It gave me a decent lift around the eyes.

But you should pick a product that works best for your skin type.

Fenty pro Filtr -- it's such a nice texture and feel, and once it oxidizes it matches my face so well. Honestly I don't even wear foundation anymore -- just conceal my under eye with it , use setting powder and it's as if I'm not wearing anything.
